

GRAND RAPIDS

African American Health Institute

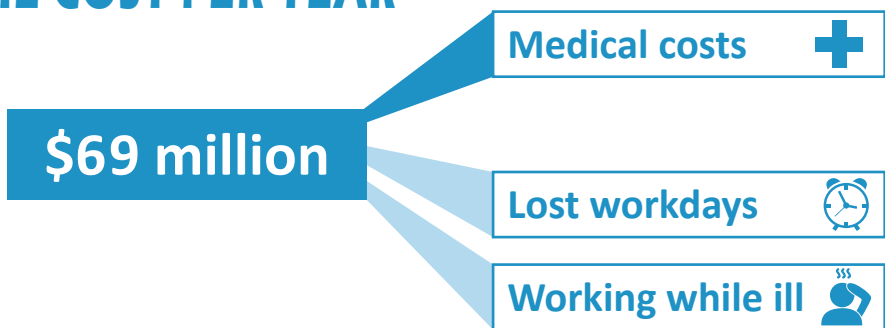

ECONOMIC IMPACT OF

BREAST CANCER in Michigan

THE PROBLEM

THE COST PER YEAR

CALL TO ACTION

Evidence shows that community-based disease prevention programs cost under $10 per person per year and can lead to improvements in physical activity, nutrition, and smoking cessation, which results in reductions of some forms of cancer, including breast cancer by 2.5% and save over $2.8 billion in health care costs per year.